Empire Communities Reveals Brand New Homes Redesigned for Today's Homebuyer

VAUGHAN, ON (February 27, 2019) – Empire Communities, one of North America's largest homebuilders, is proud to release a brand new collection of homes with modern architectural details and thoughtful interior features. The homebuilder has redesigned their floorplan offering with today's homebuyer in mind in three distinct collections; the Woodland Collection, the Modern Collection and the Gemstone Collection.

"This new collection was designed to make ease of living better than ever before," says Sue MacKay, VP of Marketing at Empire Communities. "We've listened to feedback from first-time buyers, move-up buyers and downsizers to accommodate whichever life stage you find yourself in, with elements like 1.5 car garages, laundry on the second floor, mudrooms and planning centres for homework and bills."

The Woodland Collection takes on a fresh, modern farmhouse aesthetic, the Modern Collection uses mixed materiality and loft-style features, and the Gemstone Collection features a collection of heritage-inspired homes with brick facades and classic architectural designs.

These redesigned homes include sleek exterior designs and updated aesthetic features like black frame windows, premier darker colours, modern outdoor light fixtures and stylish garage doors. Not only have the outside of the homes changed, Empire is offering updated interior features at no additional cost on all detached and townhomes, such as 9 ft main floor ceilings, hardwood flooring on the main floor and oak staircases from the main to second floors.

This new collection of homes will be available starting March 2, 2019 as a new release at the Empire Avalon community in Caledonia, and will then be offered at select communities across Southwestern Ontario later this year.
