WHY GREER? AND WHY NOW?

People have been flocking to South Carolina and it comes as no surprise. The climate is better than most places in the United States — warmer by the coast and cooler Upstate; it's breathtakingly beautiful, home to the Blue Ridge Mountains and the Atlantic Coast; and it has one of the lowest crime rates in the country, making it a great place to raise a family. When it comes to deciding exactly which city to move to, there's a variety of options to choose from, but Greer is at the top of the list and for a future home, you just can't go wrong.

LEISURE AND RECREATION

But what really makes Greer such a coveted place to live? Well, for starters, it's one of South Carolina's fastest-growing cities, known for its sweet southern hospitality and big-city amenities. It's located in the heart of The Upstate in the foothills of the Blue Ridge Mountains, offering residents unbeatable proximity to some of the state's top recreational opportunities. Two dozen park and recreational facilities call Greer home, including Greer City Park which features a fountain, an outdoor amphitheater and 12 acres of expansive green space. And when locals are craving the energy of the city, the region's trendy downtown area — Greer Station — is a go-to destination for all things shopping, dining, entertainment and professional services. In other words, a life in Greer will never bore, giving the region's homeowners a long list of activities to partake in whenever they're itching for things to do.

EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

If you're seeking top employment opportunities, Greer is the ideal place to be. Both domestic and international businesses have established headquarters in the area, including BMW, Honeywell Aerospace, Michelin and Mitsubishi Polyester Film, providing an influx of top-tier jobs to individuals in the market. The relocation of these companies to the region is a welcomed addition — largely attributed to the convenience that Greer provides. Being close to Interstate 85 makes it possible for residents and employees of companies to get to and from destinations with ease. And with Greenville-Spartanburg International Airport just mere 10 minutes away, traveling for work or leisure has never been easier.

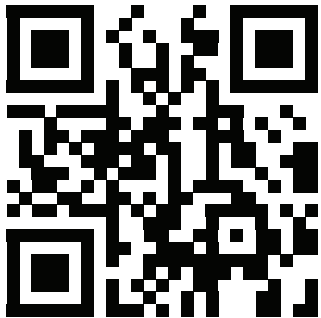

LIFESTYLE

When you live in South Carolina, you get that quintessential southern hospitality that the south is known for. The locals are uber friendly, people will wave to you on the street, and because of it, you may find yourself in deep conversations with complete strangers from time to time. But of all cities in the region, there's something extra special about living in Greer. Its small-town atmosphere is what's really unique, with a tight-knit feel that's not easily found elsewhere. Greer's neighborhoods are rich in charm and its downtown area has a long-spanning history. It's the perfect blend of old and new, with historic buildings that keep the region connected to its storied past and modern amenities that meet residents' varied needs. Here, it's normal for festivals, concerts and other events to take place, with the region never missing a chance to bring natives and newcomers together.

THE COST OF LIVING

When you're deciding where to live, affordability is a significant consideration. Wouldn't you agree? In Greer, the cost of living is lower than the national average, as well as most cities in the state. When it comes to the average cost of housing, utilities, groceries, transportation, healthcare and other services, it's less expensive than other areas in the U.S. All the more reason to pack up and move to the area, no?

Now's a great time to find a new home in Greer. Learn more about our new communities in the region and find the perfect floor plan for you.

EXPLORING GREER STATION

Every region has its downtown core, and for the city of Greer, that's none other than Greer Station. Made memorable by its charming brick streets, Greer's downtown area is rich in boutique shops, award-winning restaurants, and lively entertainment venues. With 40 of the area's buildings listed on the National Register of Historic Places, storied architecture can be admired on every street. Greer Station is the perfect blend of old and new, tastefully highlighting the region's rich history while bringing attention to the offerings that are new.

DRINK AND DINE

Greer Station is a foodie's dream. There's michelin-star restaurants, casual dining destinations, and tons of places that'll completely satisfy your sweet tooth. Whether you're in the mood for pub food, a good ol' pasta dish, the juiciest steak or fresh seafood, there's 24 mouth-watering options to choose from. And if you just want to catch up with friends over a drink, that's ok too — at Greer Station, neither coffee houses nor wine bars are in short supply.

SHOP

This historic downtown area will become your favorite place to shop, and for good reason. From quaint boutiques offering designer fashions to homeware, handmade artwork and vintage decor, these locally-owned shops are great for browsing or a routine shopping trip. Forget traveling to the grocery store to pick up alcohol, flowers and sweets — La Bouteille Wine & Beer, Urban Petals, Chocolate Dream Shop and SoBella Sweets have you covered when it comes to all those needs.

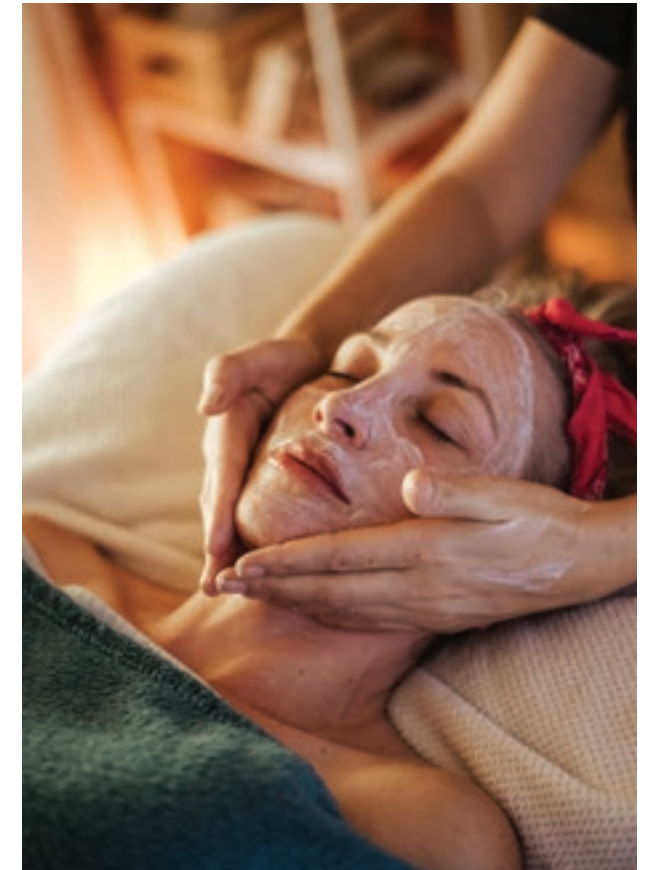

PLAY

One of the best parts about visiting Greer Station is being able to partake in the various things there are to do. Have a date night or a family outing planned but don't know what to do? Greer Station takes some of the guesswork out of the decision-making process for you. There's culinary classes you can purchase if you want to refine your cooking skills, galleries you can browse with a drink in hand, and live concerts to attend as well. And when you want to squeeze in a workout, there's not one but two fitness studios to use.

LIVE

Living near Greer Station isn't just great for dining, retail and entertainment — it's also filled with modern conveniences like spas, barber shops and salons; wellness centers like medical clinics, chiropractors and fitness studios; and other popular locations like churches, dry cleaners and banks. Stay overnight at the James House Inn — one of the National Register of Historic Places properties in the area which dates back to 1921 — or visit Greer City Park in the summer months, a 12-acre park, for outdoor movie nights.
